BRANDING AND STYLING GUIDE

July 2017
Preface

This document develops brand identity of the Sukh Initiative. It provides guidelines and builds understanding on all the elements important to maintaining and building a brand identity. Consistent, standardized branding in all internal and external communication will strengthen and reinforce the program’s message. It will cultivate an emotional perception and connection of its beneficiaries with the program.
Discontinuation of old branding and adoption of the new Branding and Styling Guide

As the custodian of the Branding and Styling Guide, Center for Communication Programs Pakistan is responsible for the maintenance and compliance of the branding of Sukh Initiative. Therefore, all the consortium partners are encouraged to conform to the following standard operating procedures:

Compliance
- Follow the directions and instructions given in the guide for designing and developing content and material;
- Consult and coordinate with Center for Communication Programs Pakistan in a timely manner for specific need and information that is not covered in this guide;
- Seek permission of the Program Management Unit for any exceptions that may be required viz branding and styling work.

Quality Control
- To ensure consistency in branding and styling, the designed work may be shared with Center for Communication Programs Pakistan through most reliable and efficient means, one week ahead of the planned development, for inputs and review.

Quality Audit
- Program Management Unit will do the quality audit on a quarterly basis to reassess compliance of branding and styling of Sukh Initiative by implementing partners.

Revision
- In case the partner would like a permanent revision in the branding and styling guide on a particular point, the matter may be formally communicated and taken up at the meetings of Senior Management Team, held regularly every month.
INTRODUCTION
1. Introduction

The Sukh Initiative emerged from the 2012 London Summit on Family Planning as a partnership between three private foundations, i.e. the Aman Foundation, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, and the David and Lucile Packard Foundation, with the objective of increasing the use of modern family planning methods through demand and supply related inputs amongst married women within one million peri-urban population of Karachi, Pakistan. The Initiative entails strategies and innovations that promote improved quality family planning and reduce unintended pregnancies. The Aman Health Care Services (AHCS) is responsible for the implementation of the Sukh Initiative and provision of strong performance management and data solutions for synergized and aligned strategies driving the success of the program. The AHCS has contracted partners for implementation of various aspects of the program.

At the initiation of the program, Sukh Initiative adopted the following logo and tagline in view of the program’s various facets and interventions directed towards benefiting young and married women in particular and other members of the society in general.

Considering the success made and grounds covered by the program over the last four years, it was deemed suitable by the program management to give Sukh Initiative a new branding, which is more exciting, consistent, and attractive to the beneficiary communities. With these aspirations, new branding guidelines have been developed. The new logo, which is an updated version of the old logo, and the new tagline that is more appealing, given as follows, comes into effect from July 2017.
MISSION STATEMENT
2. Mission statement

“Sukh Initiative empowers families to access contraception by increasing knowledge, improving quality of services and expanding their basket of choices, contributing to the goals of FP2020”.

The mission statement, adopted by the executive board of the Sukh Initiative, guides the program in achieving its goal and objectives by use of innovative approaches and programmatic excellence. The identity of an institution is expressed through its values, goals, actions, achievements and brand. The mission statement is the foundation for the Sukh Initiative’s brand identity.
TAGLINE
From the very inception, the Sukh Initiative has operated as a collaborative program, working closely with other partners for strong performance management so that different strategies are synergized and aligned and high impact drives the success of the program. The program’s tagline, ‘sehat ke raste hanste baste’ signifies that the route to a happy life is through healthy practices. The tagline also clearly communicates the essence of the mission.

‘Sehat ke raste hanste baste’ conveys an impactful message that has an appeal for the audience.

‘Sehat ke raste hanste baste’ is a call for happy and healthy life.

‘Sehat ke raste hanste baste’ is a central message to adopt healthy ways of life.

SUKH BRAND
4. Sukh brand

The Sukh brand is developed to establish its identity and equity amongst all internal and external stakeholders.

The Sukh Initiative denotes peace of mind that can be achieved through adoption of healthy timing and spacing of pregnancies and as a result prevention of ill health caused by too many, too frequent pregnancies and childbirths. The word ‘Sukh’ is associated with lasting happiness, and highlights the message that good health brings long-term prosperity and wellbeing to a family. This program title was chosen to provide a positive association with healthy behaviors while maintaining culturally appropriate norms.

The Sukh brand is:

Bold
- Gives a bold and clear message of health in relation to women

Simple
- Aligned to the vision and theme of the program and reflects its spirit

Appealing
- Appealing and impactful

Representative
- Focused on women and reflective of the whole society

Contemporary
- Conveys a message that is the need of the time

5.1 Logo overview

The Sukh Initiative logo is to provide consistent and standardized branding in all internal and external communications. As the Sukh Initiative is aimed towards assisting women to increase their knowledge of healthy birth spacing, access to services and increase their choices of using contraceptives, the logo is an identifier for them in practicing the same and draws associations.

The inscription ‘Sukh’ in Urdu language in the logo, with its predominant green as well as image of a flower, evokes a sense of peace and prosperity. The word ‘Sukh’ is associated with lasting happiness, and highlights the message that good health provides long-term prosperity and benefits to a family. Strategic, standardized visibility and promotion of the brand and its associated content, text and messaging will develop an association of the Sukh Initiative as a credible source of quality family planning services and information.
5.2 Target audience

The target audience for the Sukh Initiative is categorized for program and external communication.

For program communication, audiences are defined for primary, secondary and tertiary levels as:

- Primary program audience
  Married women of reproductive ages, husbands, especially the newly married couples in focused areas of Karachi

- Secondary program audience
  Mothers–in–law and other family members, friends, peers and support networks

- Tertiary program audience
  Community influential, elders, religious leaders, and other notables

For external communication purposes, the audiences are identified for primary and secondary levels as:

- Primary external audience
  Program partners, government counterparts, public health activists and officials and donor organizations

- Secondary external audience
  Relevant civil society organizations, private sector and media organizations
5.3 Objectives

The logo of Sukh Initiative:

- Represents the program’s shared vision and common understanding of its mission and objectives
- Reflects a joint ownership of families and communities
- Signifies empowerment of a woman in taking a lead for happier, healthier life for herself and her family
- Promotes collective decision-making and inter-spousal communication in making and practicing family planning choices
5.4 Application

The logo is to be used to represent the Sukh Initiative on all internal and external media where branding applies, e.g. publications, digital media, media, advertisements and other medium.
5.5 Exclusion zone and minimum size

The brand logo should always be surrounded by a minimum area of space into which no other visual elements must be placed. This space is known as the “exclusion zone”. The exclusion zone ensures that headlines, text or other visual elements do not encroach on the logo.

In the given example, ‘X’, represents the clear space around the logo. ‘X’ is equal to the height of the letter ‘H’ in the Sukh Initiative logo. The minimum size of the logo should measure no less than 17mm in width. This rule should be observed to ensure that no other graphic elements (such as text or other logos) intrude into the exclusion zone.

For website applications, the logo should be no smaller than 90 pixels wide.
5.6 Correct use of logo

The logo is representative of the Sukh Initiative; its correct version must always be used. For the purposes of comparison, the correct logo is shown next to an incorrect one in the given example. Please note the details highlighted. The differences, which may not be apparent at first sight, are magnified when the incorrect logo (black) is superimposed on the correct logo (green).

Old and unauthorized versions of the Sukh Initiative logo should not be used. When working with external graphic artists, correct logo and brand guidelines should be provided with instructions to refrain from any customization or distortion of the logo, including its color or typography.
5.7 Unacceptable use of logo

It is critical to always use approved master artwork to maintain consistency and to retain the integrity of the program’s identity. The logo is an indivisible unit and should not be altered in its composition, or recreated.

Examples of unacceptable modifications and incorrect uses of the logo are shown as follows:

- don’t place the logo on low contrast background
- don’t tilt or skew the logo
- don’t use the old logo
- don’t add affects to the logo
- don’t change the color
- don’t distort the logo
- don’t recreate the logo
- don’t change the position of any logo parts
5.8 Logo and tagline

The program’s tagline should always appear with the Sukh Initiative logo. The tagline carries the theme and spirit of the program.
5.9 E-mail signature

E-mail signatures of the Sukh Initiative officials should have following information elements:

- Name
- Designation (w.r.t. Sukh Initiative)
- Parent institution
- Address
- Contact numbers

It should also contain thumbnail images of related social media of the Sukh Initiative with hyperlinks as well as a brief introductory statement.

6.1 Typeface

Careful selection and arrangement of typography provides legibility and readability to any communication material. The Sukh Initiative brand uses a distinctive typographic treatment that, when used consistently, reinforces recognition of the brand. The use of typography alone, without photographs or graphics, can communicate simplicity and order.

Shree Devanagari 714 is the official typeface of the Sukh Initiative brand, which is a sans-serif typeface recognized for its design simplicity, clarity and legibility. These characteristics represent the brand’s design style. This typeface works well when combined with other typefaces, and it may be used in upper and lower cases as body text, or all upper case as a display typeface. The recommended type alignment for all print communication is ‘push left’. For optimum readability, the recommended typographic treatment for body text is black against a white background. Shree Devanagari 714 font is easily downloadable from the web.

For more information in the use of typography for the web, refer to section 14.

WRITING STYLE
7.1 Information Architecture

Information architecture of the Sukh Initiative should always be constructed in a manner that it conveys the Issue, Action and Impact. It should remain consistent for all written and oral material from speeches to advertisement and to meeting agendas. The writing should state the issue, discuss the action that the Sukh Initiative is taking and identify the impact of the action.

“Issue, Action and Impact” can be reordered to best construct a communication piece. All text should be concise and focused. Writing in this basic format will help ensure that the communication is bold, simple, appealing, contemporary and representative.
7.2 Example of use — Advertisement

In the example all the three information elements communicate the message and call for action. The headline states the issue in a clear and simple manner and shows the impact. The body text reiterates the issue, and explains the action taken and its related impact. Importantly, issue, action and impact can be reordered in any manner to make a meaningful communication.
7.3 Example of use – Quotation

The example provided on this page illustrates writing style for quotations. The quotation states the issue, action and impact in a clear and simple manner. This is achievable by writing with an economical style that is direct, concise and focused.

“We have to treat women with respect and have to take care of their needs; if they are healthy, we all are healthy”
8.1 Primary color palette
8.2 Secondary color palette
8.3 Infographics
8.1 Primary color palette

The primary colors for the Sukh Initiative’s logo are bold that are immediately recognizable and highly visible. These colors should be featured in all communications. The colors in primary color palette as shown here are bold, simple, appealing, contemporary and representative which should be used in all official communication.

8.3 Infographics

The infographics used in the Sukh Initiative will follow the basic principles of design to support the information presented and to make it more easily accessible to a larger audience. The infographics should be in 2-D form having a proper caption, and a legend. The primary shades from the primary color palette can be used, however whenever there is a need for more contrasting colors, secondary shades can be used from the secondary color palette.

PHOTOGRAPHY
9.1 Photography overview

Use of photography can help project attributes of the brand, i.e. bold, simple, appealing, contemporary and representative. Photographs should present the dignity of the people portrayed. Images are most compelling when they tell stories – representing women and children in ways that reflect the reality of their worlds.

Following considerations and directions may help in appropriate use of photography:

- Use photo captions where needed to present the context.
- Do not manipulate photo images, remove, add or alter objects.
- Do not display faces of women and children who may be vulnerable to exploitation, abuse, discrimination, violence or trauma if identified in photographs.
- The photographs taken for Sukh Initiative are reserved for the exclusive/official use by the program staff and partners. They are not to be used for commercial purposes.
- For internal or external image distribution, include copyright, photo credit and information on restrictions of use.
- All the photographs taken for the Sukh Initiative should be credited.
Attribute – Bold

Bold images communicate clearly and immediately what is essential in a situation, stirring deep emotions in the viewer.

Bold can also be shown in the frank, confident gaze that the subject directs at the viewer.

Intense colors and close framing create a strong image.

Bold can mean dramatic in the narrative sense – confronting the audience with a difficult issue.
Attribute – Simple

Simple images affirm all that is best in women and children; illustrating both who they are and what they can be.

A natural balance is struck between an engaging foreground and a simple background.

Simple images often focus on a detail that hints at much larger subjects.

A centered composition makes this image simple and powerful.

Image should be uncluttered, with a minimum of distracting elements.
Attribute – Appealing

Appealing images convey all the hope and the confidence, stimulating a thought process.

This image has a positive appeal for education.

The image of a mother and a child complement the program’s message.
Attribute – Contemporary

Contemporary images are recognizably current, and show the active participation of women and children. Unique camera angles, good cropping, interesting colors and strong crisp lines all let us feel as if we were right there with the subjects.

Contemporary imagery presents people captured in the picture as unique individuals in diverse social and cultural situations.

Looking at a familiar scene from a different perspective also makes a photograph feel contemporary.
Attribute – Representative

Images taken for the Sukh Initiative are representative of its community. The women and children in the picture give a clear message about the program. Young girls and boys in the picture depict the youth, which is integral to the Sukh Initiative.

This image shows MWRA of the respective community seeking medical consultation.

This image represents a healthy and happy family which complements Sukh Program.
9.2 Copyrights and credits

The Sukh Initiative images should be credited in all publications. Crediting should be in one of the following formats:

- For PMU images: ©Sukh/PMU-2017/Usman (photographer’s first name is optional)
- For images from field offices: ©Sukh/FS01/reference number/Arfa or if no reference number: ©Sukh/FS01/2017/Arfa or if neither reference number nor photographer is known: ©Sukh/FS01/2017

- For print publications (brochures, flyers, posters, banners, etc.), photographs should be credited:
  i. beneath the image, flush right; or
  ii. vertically beside the image, flush left or right bottom; or
  iii. on a separate ‘credits’ page, to include the page reference and position on the page where the image appears.

- For web reproduction, photographs should be credited beneath the image, flush right, as above.
- For PowerPoint presentations, photographs should be credited beneath the photographs, push right or on the last slide of the presentation.
9.3 Consent form

For the purpose of taking photographs under the Sukh Initiative, relevant persons, including field health workers, health care providers, (MWARs, young girls and boys) community stakeholders, implementing partners and the project management officials, are obligated to seek consent of the subject (individual(s)) on the prescribed Consent Form.
10.1 Visibility overview
10.2 Acknowledgement
10.1 Visibility overview

The Sukh branded material such as supplies, signage, and other products, need to be designed to stand out from their environment and those of other organizations. Branded material brings visibility to the Sukh Initiative and help stakeholders recognize the efforts being made under the program.

Strategic, standardized visibility and promotion of the brand and its associated content will develop an association of the Sukh Initiative with credible source of much needed quality services and information amongst the individuals and communities it serves and all its stakeholders.

Brand visibility communicates accountability to donor organizations, program beneficiaries and partners. The level of visibility given to the Sukh brand should be considered in the social and political context of the environment where the Sukh Initiative operates, ensuring there is no risk to staff and partners.
The visibility items of the Sukh Initiative are reserved only for the use of staff or other authorized personnel during official functions or events. Visibility items may be distributed to external partners, volunteers or children, upon approval of the head of the office. Visibility items are not to be sold or given away to unauthorized persons. The Sukh branded visibility items should not be customized or altered with personalized designs or messages.
10.2 Acknowledgement

All Implementing partners in their verbal and written communication and announcements will use standardized uniform acknowledgement of Aman Health Care Services. The following statement will be included in all external /public communication:

“Sukh Initiative, a program of Aman Health Care Services, is improving maternal and child health by promoting healthy reproductive behaviors, increasing access to quality family planning services, and working with communities, to support and sustain positive social and behavior change”.

Acknowledgement of Aman Health Care Services is to be made in cases of significant renovation of building (school, health facility, youth friendly space, a community-based organization) or in case of a provision of equipment. A plaque will be placed at a prominent place inside the building, adjacent to the equipment, the tele-health booths, youth friendly spaces and all other relevant spaces/material, stating:

“This <renovation/equipment/building> was supported by the Sukh Initiative, a program of Aman Health Care Services.

11.1 Print overview

The design of all the publications should be based upon the principles and writing style of the Sukh brand. The consistent use of the brand’s design elements (photography, typography, color and logo) increases recognition of the brand by its audiences. Every publication design should feature the process color of green on the cover.

Paper Selection
In general, Sukh publications should be printed on an environment-friendly paper with a smooth finish, matte-coated surface, with a bright white value, and at least 30% recycled content or recyclable material.

Copyright Notice
The correct copyright notice in Sukh publications should read: © Sukh Initiative.
11.2 Publications

The title of all program documents – reports, budgets, policies, approval form, and other similar material – will carry the Sukh Initiative logo, positioned on the top right hand side as part of the document title or header.

The Sukh Initiative logo is to be positioned prominently on the cover of all program publications, e.g. event participant packs, reports, job aids, training manuals, trainee reference materials, worksheets, and research publications.

Publications in local language – the Sukh Initiative logo should be positioned on the left upper corner of the title page. Logo of Aman Health Care Services should be placed on the right upper corner of the title page.

The following text is to be printed on the inside title page or at the lower bottom back cover of the publication:

“This activity /brochure [ specify] is carried out/produced under the Sukh Initiative, a program of the Aman Health Care Services”
11.3 Stationary overview

All the partners:

- Will not use directly or by implication the name(s), logo(s), trademark(s), service mark(s) of the Sukh Initiative donors (namely, Aman Foundation, Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and The Lucile and Packard Foundation) in connection with any products, publicity, promotion, financing, advertising, or other public disclosure without prior written permission from the Program Management Unit.

- May not make any statement or otherwise imply to external audiences, i.e. investors, media or the general public that it in any way communicates their status of being a grantee of the foundations. They shall only represent themselves as sub-grantee of the Aman Health Care Services.

- Will not use the name of the donors in publications, for the purposes of advertising, promotion, commercial purposes or otherwise, without appropriate prior written permission from the Program Management Unit.

Exceptions:
The Program Management Unit of the Sukh Initiative will approve any exceptions to this particular branding guideline in advance and in writing.
12.2 Placement of logo in partnership

In a partnership, it is important to give partner’s logo equal emphasis. The logos should be shown at proportionately the same size and at the same level. In such a case, the Sukh Initiative logo should appear on the right hand side, and the logo of Aman Health Care Services need to be placed on the left hand side, while the logo of single partners may be placed in between the two logos. As people read from left to right, the Sukh Initiative logo may be the last to be seen, leaving with the reader a lasting and memorable impression. Remember to maintain the recommended minimum clear space around each logo. In case of the use of logos of more than one partner, the two or more logos may be placed in the footer while the logos of the Sukh Initiative and the Aman Health Care Services on the header.

Following are the examples of the correct use of the placement of logos:
12.3 Partnership Examples

Below are the examples of correct placement of logos with multiple partners.
12.4 Banner and standee

Public events present unique opportunities for partners to highlight important aspects of their work. Step and repeat banners, standee and other high visibility items, often serve as backdrops for photo opportunities during these events. Following are the exemples of banner and standee with Sukh and partner logos.

13.2 Use of PowerPoint
13.1 Presentations overview

This section explains how to use the elements of the Sukh Initiative brand to create presentations in PowerPoint.

Use the font Arial in bold and regular weights. Charts and diagrams should be simple, clear and uncomplicated. Three-dimensional effects and animation should be avoided. The complete primary color palette can be used; however, keep the number of colors appearing on any one slide to a minimum.

The use of photography to enhance or complement a message is encouraged. However, photo imagery should be kept to a minimum and used to communicate, not decorate.

The key points can be type-only slides or type and image slides. Pacing is important, so after a text-heavy section, a slide of color background with one sentence or an image slide with one sentence can be used to create a moment of rest. The text should be kept simple and to a minimum.
13.2 Use of PowerPoint

The examples below illustrate the recommended way to use text simply and clearly when preparing a presentation in PowerPoint.
14.1 Website overview
14.2 Logo on webpage
14.3 Colors
14.4 Typography, writing and imagery
The Sukh Initiative website (sukh.theamanfoundation.org) is one of the platforms used by the program to communicate with its various stakeholders, donors and supporters. This section explains how to use the elements of the Sukh Initiative’s brand identity to build functional, interesting and engaging web pages.
14.2 Logo on webpage

To create web graphics with the logo, use the standard graphic files available from the website of the Sukh Initiative (sukh.theamanfoundation.org). Do not alter the colors used in these files. Remember to maintain the required clear space around the logo. It is recommended that the logo should be colored on white background, accompanied by the tagline.

Placement: the logo is to be on the top left corner of every web page besides the logo of the Aman Health Care Services. The logo of Sukh Initiative should be no smaller than 90 pixels in width.
14.3 Colors

Refer to the primary color palette of the Sukh Initiative for the selection of colors for webpage development. All main pages (homepage or section landing pages) should use white as their primary background color to maximize legibility of the text and use green as an accent color. Less text heavy pages can use colors from primary palette as their primary background color, with white or black text. The following colors can be used for emphasis, variety and secondary design elements:

- Vermillion: #ed1846
- Red: #ef4023
- Purple: #c5168c
- Dark green: #007236
- Light green: #0cb14b
- Gray: #ced7dd

Body text should be black on a white background. On content pages, link colors should be the web default values.
14.4 Typography, writing and imagery

Typography

Web fonts: Use Shree Devanagari 714 bold in graphics used as titles or headlines, and in other graphics that incorporate text. Shree Devanagari 714 is the official font for all HTML text (body text, headers, captions, links, etc.) on sukh.theamanhealth.org. Arial, a sans-serif font can be used as an alternative accent font. Names of website sections and headers on web pages may be either in upper and lower case or all upper case. Headers and body text should be aligned from the left in languages that read from left to right.

Writing

When you write for the web:

• Be economical and to the point – sentences should be a Maximum of about 30–35 words long.
• Use the active voice.
• Avoid starting sentences with subordinate clauses.
• Structure your text using the format issue, action, and impact.
• Make liberal use of headers, subheads and bulleted and Numbered lists, in order to break up large areas of text, facilitate scanning and enhance readability.

If the text for a given web page is more than 500 words, consider splitting it up into two or more pages.

Imagery

On the web, use the three preferred image styles:

• Content relevant photographs in vertical or horizontal format optimized for the web.
• Silhouetted portraits.
• Banners/promotional buttons/icons/graphics.

Provide photo credit information for all photographs on the web pages, as it is done for print publications.
